DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 5/14/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues Nishihara does not teach a sealing device or cotton plugs. The examiner has relied on the combination of Nishihara JP 2002275001, Nishihara JP 2003111830, and Kitajima JP 8133901 to teach a sealing device or cotton plugs. Applicant has not presented further arguments regarding the teaching of this limitation.
2. Applicant argues none of the aforementioned references provides a color identification mark for identifying a syringe as one for corpse treatment. Applicant further argues the color identification mark provides a technical function i.e. preventing misuse by identifying the syringe for corpse treatment. However, Applicant has not provided or claimed any structure that would prevent any other syringe from being used for corpse treatment. Therefore, the examiner maintains the color identification mark is an ornamental feature. The above arguments additionally apply to new claims 91 and 92l.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 45-92, as best understood by the examiner, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nishihara JP 2002275001 in view of Nishihara JP2003111830 and further in view of Kitajima JP 8133901.

. Nishihara discloses a device and method for preventing humoral ooze comprising a syringe 1 having a piston 1a, inserting tube 4,7, covering member 5, and a jelly substance 8. Nishihara does not disclose the syringe has an identification mark. However, matters relating to ornamentation only, which have not mechanical function cannot be relied upon to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art, In re Seid, 161 F.2d 229, 73 USPQ 431 (CCPA 1947). See MPEP 2144.04 I.

Nishihara '001 does not disclose a body fluid sealing member and cotton substance as claimed. Nishihara JP 2003111830 discloses a sealing device for preventing the leakage of rectal waste from the anus due to the relaxation of the sphincter caused by death. One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated by the teaching of Nishihara '830 to provide the invention of Nishihara '001 with a sealing device for preventing leakage of rectal waste. The sealing device of Nishihara '830 comprises a molding 2 of highly water-absorbing fibers, a water-soluble sheet 3 covering the outer periphery of the molding 2, and a lubricant 4 covering the water-soluble sheet 3.

Nishihara '001/'830 does not disclose a cotton substance. Kitajima JP 8133901 teaches a method of preventing leakage involving inserting a jelly into the inner part of the nasal cavity and ears and plugging the outer part of the cavities with medical cotton.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to provide the invention of Nishihara '001/'830 with a cotton substance. Doing so would provide a means for plugging the cavity to assist with preventing leakage of bleeding and offensive odor to the outside.

Nishihara '001/'830/Kitajima shows a cotton sealing member for a mouth, ear, and nose plugs in Figures 1 and 2. The limitations directed to the cotton plug preventing leakage of saliva or adjusting a shape of both cheeks is directed to an intended use of the article. Regarding the limitations of adapted to and traversing the gluteal fold, these limitations are directed to an intended use of the article. Intended use must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim limitations.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 3761

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
